

DECISION-MAKING RESOURCES GUIDELINE

Gold Coast Health Plan (GCHP) reviews services to members in order to determine whether the services are medically necessary, not medically necessary, or investigational and not medically necessary. In making these decisions, GCHP determines whether such services are in accordance with evidence-based medical practice. Decision-making may take into account credible scientific evidence published in peer-reviewed medical literature generally recognized by the relevant medical community, physician specialty society recommendations, and the views of physicians practicing in relevant clinical areas who offer peer-reviewed assessments (such as through AMR), and other relevant factors as they relate to the member's clinical circumstances.

This document provides a list of resources available to GCHP's medical reviewers to use in situations where the company does not have a guideline that addresses the specific service or product for which benefits are requested. If a relevant guideline is available, it is to be used as the basis for decision-making, and this process is not to be followed.
